DRAFTEES WILL BE SUMMONED ACCORDING TO CLASSIFICATION

New System to be Put Into Effect at Once, in Calling Men to Service

WILL NOT CHANGE NUMBERS

A new system of classification of the National Army men so as to put the "right man in the right place" was announced by Provost Marshal General Crowder from Washington Saturday night. Under the new scheme, which has the approval of the President, every enlisted man inducted into the military service during the war will be catalogued with his draft board with a complete history that will enable the board to determine precisely what class of service he is best fitted to be in.

The system comprehends drawing sharp distinctions among the selected men, putting them into the five classes, running from those who have no dependents to those who are physically or otherwise incapacitated for active service.

Men with no dependents will be in Class 1 and are to be called out first until the entire class is exhausted. After that Class 2, comprising men with a small family dependent upon them, or men partly skilled, will come. Class 3 will take in highly skilled men, or those with aged parents dependent upon them. Class 4 will include those with large families. Class 5 will embrace what will be known as "discards," or men who are in no way fitted for active service.

The new system will not affect the men already called in the 687,000 men now summoned for service, but will apply to all others. Under this [illegible] the local boards will send a questionaire to the men drafted, in which will be set forth minutely all things pertaining to his family, responsibility and adaptability of the individual. When the questionaire is returned and examined the board will determine in which to place the man. He may appeal if he believes he has been wrongly placed, but the decision of the appeal board is final. The numbers of the draftees will not be changed, but they will be called into service according to classification.

TO HONOR THE COLORED MEN

Demonstration Will be Held in Monongahela Next Friday Evening

THREE TOWNS TO TAKE PART

The Afro-American citizens of Monongahela, Donora and Charleroi are preparing to give the colored men who have been drafted from the Fifth District a proper send-off, the demonstration to take place in Monongahela on the coming Friday night. The draftees are scheduled to leave Monongahela some time on Saturday next.

This evening a meeting of the local colored citizens will be held in St. James church at which time arrangements will be made for the Charleroi colored people to take their proper share in the celebration. The committee appointed to look after the meeting this evening is D. F. Ferguson, E. Smith, J. G. Lee and Jos. Stewart.

Wednesday evening a meeting of the general committee, made up of leading colored citizens from Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela, will be held in Monongahela, at which time the final arrangements will be made for the event.

Just what the program will be has not yet been announced, but it is likely there will be a parade, as well as a banquet, this latter feature being served in the Armory. It is expected that forty colored men will leave on Saturday for Camp Sherman at Chillicothe, Ohio, where they will be assigned to the colored regiment which will be mobilized at that pont.

Charles Ludwig is at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, visiting his brother William, who is now in training at that place.

"Going up." The Mail's tobacco fund has started on its second century. George M. Truby paid in the first 50 cent to start it on its way, and a few moments later Mr. Malibone, who has already made several contributions came in with another dollar, and thus the assent on the second heights was begun.

We know the people of Charleroi have been solicited for many funds arising from the necessity of the present war. The Liberty bond, Red Cross and relief work among the poor and crippled of Europe, but the tobacco fund appeals with peculiar force to us all. It does not require a great sacrifice to become a contributor. A 25 cent donation will serve to buy one comfort kit for the soldier and when he gets the gift he will surely appreciate it. If you will notice the letters written home by the boys from France you will be impressed with the appeals for tobacco that are made. Not only is the quality used in France of an inferior character, but it is likewise much more expensive than in the States. And then it is not the favorite brand of the boys. They cannot get used to it, and are continually craving for [illegible] to which they have [illegible] at it be [illegible] shed and cleaned before [illegible] vice in [illegible] we have not. Before the war is over we may be called upon to restrict ourselves greater than ever, but for the present we are able to give the boys their desires in smokes. Let us make the second century go even faster than the first. List is open to all.

WILL ARRANGE TO HONOR COLORED MEN

A called meeting of the Afro-American citizens of Charleroi and vicinity will be held in the St. James curch ths evening, to arrange to take part in a reception and demonstration to be given in honor of the colored boys who have been drafted for service in the National Army and who are scheduled to leave Monongahela on Saturday next. All fraternal orders are requested to make arrangements to turn out on Friday evening when a public demonstration will be held. D. F. Ferguson, E. Smith, J. G. Lee and Joseph Stewart, committee.

LAST WEEK OF THE CAMPAIGN FOR THE LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

Charleroi is Away Behind in its Quota Assigned To It

CITIZENS URGED TO BUY

The local Liberty Loan campaign is on the final week and Charleroi will have to move quickly during the few remaining days if it is going to meet the expectatons of the government in the way of subscribing to the bonds.

Up until noon today the totals as reported by the various banks amounted to $121,200. As the allotment for this community is $459,000 it can be readily seen that we are far below our mark. In order to reach the goal set by the government it will be necessary that a Liberty Loan bond be placed in every home in Charleroi. This the local committee will endeavor to do by personal solicitation. Of course it will mean a whole lot of work, but the bond issue must be driven to a successful issue and it is up to the people to supply the funds.

The final drive of the week was inaugurated this afternoon at 3:50 o'clock, when the Liberty Loan Special of the Pennsylvania Railroad arrived at the local station were met at [illegible] of the Monongahela Charleroi Lumber [illegible] ed a flag-pant, and at 5 o'clock the [illegible] view of the Imperial Glass company [illegible] ple to the pedestal [illegible] these bonds.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock special speakers from Pittsburg will address the pupils of the high school at chapel in the auditorium of the high school. In the afternoon these speakers will visit the various industrial establishments and talk to the workmen, and will urge them to put their savings in government bonds. In the evening they speak in the various theatres of Charleroi.

Wednesday morning the big drive will begin. A local committee will be on the job bright and early and will work throughout the day. Wednesday will be Liberty Loan Day, and every citizen should look well into his resources and see if he cannot find some means of subcribing to at least one bond. The Liberty Loan must be a success, and Charleroi citizens are urged to do their share in subscribing for bonds. We may have to make some sacrifices in order to subscribe, but it is better to do that rather than have the bond issue fall below the sum desired by the government. We must do our "bit" by taking bonds

Louis Bertram, a member of Company A, 110th United States Infantry, who was called home from Camp Hancock, on account of the illness of his mother, has arrived in Charleroi for a short stay.

MILK PRICES ARE RAISED IN BELLE VERNON

Belle Vernon dairymen are preparing to pay an additional price for milk, as after the 1st of November the lacteal fluid will be sold at 11 cents a quart, the highest price ever reached in that community. The dairymen claim that increasing costs of feed, as well as the inability to secure help makes it absolutely necessary to make the raise in price, which will be effective after the first of the month.

OUTPLAYED OPPONENTS

Yet the Locals Lost to Uniontown by Score of 6 to 3

VISITORS SCORED ON FUMBLE

The Charleroi high school football team lost to Uniontown high on Saturday afternoon last by a score of 6 to 3. [illegible] had scored the members of the [illegible] playing the Liberty Bonds were [illegible] have been easy winners. This fact is shown when it is realized that Uniontown made but two first downs throughout the entire game.

The visitors' score was made in the first quarter, when the Charleroi backs fumbled a kick, and before the ball could be recovered the Uniontown players were on them, and securing the ball rushed over the goal line for a touchdown. Charleroi's score was made in the second quarter, when Eagye kicked a field goal for the locals, this ending the scoring of both teams.

Charleroi had the ball within striking distance of Uniontown's goal several times, but were penalized ten and fifteen yards by the referee, which prevented a score. Throughout the entire game, with the exception of the time when the locals fumbled and the visitors got the ball for a touchdown, Charleroi's goal was never in danger, while on the other hand the locals were frequently within striking distance of their opponents' goal. It was what might be termed a hard-luck game to lose, for Charleroi demonstrated her superiority over their opponents, but the breaks went to the other fellows. The teams lined up as follows:

U-BOAT TOLL

Two and one-half million pieces of surgical dressings, hospital linen and clothing on their way from American Red Cross societies to wounded French soldiers, homeless refugees and American hospitals went down with the British steamer Wenworth, which was torpedoed by a U-boat last month.

This is not welcome to our Red Cross societies, nor to the people who have contributed in the way of clothing to the wounded French soldier as well as the homeless refugees of that country. However, when shipments are made to Europe just now it is necessary to take a chance hoping the steamer will have the best of luck and will reach her destination safely.

Of course the loss of supplies of that character is discouraging to the thousands of Red Cross societies throughout the country, which are contributing daily to the wants and necessities of those in Europe who are in need, but if there is no loss of life when a ship is sent down we should be thankful. It is easy to replace surgical dressings and clothings, but a life once lost can never be restored. We must bear with such disappointments, but keep up a strong resolution that inspite of the U-boats and their piratical mission we will keep up the supplies so [illegible] hospitals and the [illegible] get leave and [illegible] land of

PEACE TALK

Those people who think the war is apt to end in a short time should consider carefully the results of the German campaign in Russia. It looks as if Petrograd, the capital of the new Republic, was about to fall into German hands, the Russians already anticipate such an event by evacuating that city and removing all government records.

The particular point, however, which should receive consideration is the strength of the Germany naval and military resources which permits that empire to carry on such a great campaign in such a successful manner. True the Russians have been somewhat of a negligible quantity in the war for some time, but the fact that the Germans would attempt such a comprehensive campaign at this time of year shows them to be supremely confident of success and of holding out against the allies on the western front.

We should not congratulate ourselves on the breaking down of the German plans to end the war. They have had their military machine in the making for over 40 years, and it is not going to pieces after a few years of war. No doubt many of the German people are tired and sick of war, but the government is yet potent to compel military service, and as long as it has this power the war will continue. The end of course will ultimately come, but the United States will have to send hundreds of thousands of men into the battlefields of France to force the decision.

We should not be lulled into indifference by tales of early peace. We must keep up our work of preparations and extend them to the limit. When the big drive begins next spring in France the United States wants to be adequately represented on the western front.

THE FOOD PROBLEM

Wage earners hope that the campaign of Mr. Hoover will result in the lowering of retail prices by the first of the year. They only wish the lower prices would come sooner, but it occurs to us that Mr. Hoover in a campaign of "pitiless publicity" might help the desire of the public to secure foodstuffs at a lower cost.

No doubt Mr. Hoover is a busy man but he has assistants in every large community, who might be able to "get next" to the selling price of commodities at wholesale, and then compare them with the price the people have to pay. That would be illuminating at least, and would give the public some idea of the margin between the wholesaler and the retailer. If necessary figures should go back to the producer, that a more intelligent idea of the situation could be obtained.

"Profiteers" are not wanted in this war, and like the pacifists and the slackers, the fewer the better for the country at large. The people, to use the term in the most comprehensive manner are doing their duty and in the most patriotic manner, and they are in no mood to be exploited by any of those who are in a position to extort more than they are justly entitled thereto. We realize that the food problem is a serious one in the United States; that Mr. Hoover has great burdens and great responsibility resting upon him, but at the same time some method should be found whereby the people should [illegible] to pay, such prices [illegible] the necessities of life we are demanded today.

THE FINAL DRIVE

The closing week of the big drive for the Liberty Loan began this morning. Every day from now until Saturday various communities will be holding demonstrations with a view of arousing more enthusiasm for this financial propostion which the government has launched and which the people must make a success.

Beginning with this afternoon, when the Pennsylvania Special stopped at our local station on an enthusiasm-arousing tour, the program of events for the next days were properly inaugurated.

Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, in the chapel at high school, members of the high school will be addressed on the Liberty Loan by a speaker from Pittsburg. During the balance of the day the manufacturing plants of the vicinity will be visited and the workmen addressed on this important subject, closing with speeches in the evening at the various theatres.

And then on Wednesday the "big push." Every patriotic citizen is asked to lend his assitance to solicit for the loan. Charleroi wants to make a record. The way to do it is for the people of the community to become thoroughly aroused to the importance of the Liberty Loan and the part Charleroi is to play in its success. The country cannot afford that the loan be a [illegible] expectation of [illegible] cials, and in order to do this necessary that the wage earner as well as the capitalist buys a bond. Your bank will assist you. The duty is important—every patriot should take part. Let there be no financial "slackers." The government expects every man to do his duty, whether he be in the army or at home.

OUR WATERWAYS

The government has finally given recognition to inland waterway transportation in such a way as to indicate that in the not far distant future more attention will be paid to our rivers than ever before.

The presence of Secretary Redfield in St. Louis to witness the opening of a barge line between St. Paul and St. Louis is a significant feature. Plans to make this new line of communication a paying investment, and make it a factor in the transportation service of the Mississippi valley are evidently in mind of the government officials.

Of course the government has done much in the way of looking after inland waterway improvements, but the River and Harbor bill, the instrumentality through which it works, has too many pork features to make it popular with the public at large. Those districts which cannot share in the expenditures of this measure are somewhat "peeved" because others are more fortunate and at times the bill has had a rocky road to travel through Congress. The plan adopted a few years ago of allowing the army to supervise expenditure proved to be the most efficient method yet adopted, and it was more than a pity that it as not made a policy of the government.

However, every indication points to the fact that the government is viewing the inland waterways with a great deal more interest than in the past, and that something of a tangible nature will result from the present attitude of officials, who appreciate the fact that our rivers are capable of being a greater asset in the future than they have in the past.

Nature has been generous with us in furnishing such splendid streams—we should do our share by promoting their efficiency as freight carriers by the application of sensible and intelligent methods looking to their improvement.

Being deprived of his mailing privileges because of his seditious utterances, the hyphenate editor of the Milwaukee Leader appealed from the decision and defiantly announced that his paper would continue to offend pending the result. The appeal having been promptly denied and he [illegible] became unexpectedly helpless he preferred to repent and glibly promised to "print only what the government wants," hoping to get off and still to be able to serve the [illegible] somewhat more cautiously. It did not occur to him that his promise would be regarded as about [illegible] promise of [illegible] government at Berlin, which is just about as dependable as water in a sieve.

There are a few people who still [illegible] although a year ago the Kaiser said he would stand no nonsense from the United States when this war was off his hands and last February he offered to cut up our national domain and give large slices to the Mexicans if they would serve his cause.

A week-kneed brother of pacifist learnings ventured to remark that he was "sorry for Germany" and a red-blooded American retorted that he was about as sorry for Germany as he would be for a tiger that sprung upon a buzz-saw under the impression that its prey was a lamb.

The California Sentinel says that "in Pennsylvania apparently you must be a citizen or you can't own a dog." The guess is a good one. The law is specific on that point. The Legislature came to the conclusion that it was of more value to the citizens of the state to raise sheep than dogs.

The part of Russia that speaks may be "satisfied with America's war aims," but a multitude of other parts may know little about the matter in the midst of their turbulent and child-like enjoyment of freedom after ages of privation.

How They Do It.

You have doubtless been thrilled by a jungle scene in the movies where a lion closely pursues the fleeting heroine. It is a real lion, too, and anybody can see that they are really running. It is all done by means of a treadmill upon which the lion is safely chained, though his bonds are not conspicuous. He is induced to run, the heroine marks time with all her might [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] speed [illegible]

Musk Like Radium.

Musk has certain radioactive properties that cause the odor of the perfume to be carried through the air in a very extraordinary way. The radioactive property of musk affects very strangely the natives who carry it to market. If a package of musk is held close to the body for any length of time it produces sores that are described as being similar in character to those caused by pure radium.

A Junk.

Junk is the name of a vessel in common use in the river and coastal trade of China. It is also used by the Japanese. The junk has a high forecastle and poop, and ordinarily three masts. Junks, although clumsy vessels, incapable of much seamanship or speed, have proved themselves very seaworthy. The junk of Japan is considerably superior to that used in China.

An Improvement on Nature.

A certain Chicago pork packer, visiting the mountains, was one of a group witnessing a gorgeous sunset in a sky just streaked with lights that reminded one of the glories of the aurora. "Yes," he said, when asked how he liked it; "it certainly is a mighty colorful sunset—certainly is! By the way, I want to show you one my daughter painted!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Products of Genius.

There is not a bit of routine, however cheap our unthinking mind may count it, that was not started by genius. The fundamental facilities of life, the things we use as carelessly as we tread the pavement—the very fire we light, the tools we handle at our work, the food we eat—each represents some early triumph of man's spirit.—Exchange.

Natural Heating Plant.

During severe winter weather range cattle in the Bad Lands of western North Dakota are seen now and then congregated about a great fissure in a red, naked hillside. Investigation shows that a warm current of air rising through the fissure from a burning coal bed underneath has attracted them.

The Way Smoothers.

Blessed are the happiness makers! Blessed are they that remove friction, that make the courses of life smooth and the intercourse of man gentle.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Hard Name to Remember.

Olive was watching a neighbor making pie and was told it was lemon meringue. The next day the little tot came back and asked, "What was that pie's last name?"

PAGE COMPANY CHANGES NAME

The Page Woven Wire Fence Company, with manufacturing plants at Monessen and at Adrian Michigan, announces a change in the corporate name of the concert, effective Oct. 22. Thereafter it will be known as the Page Steel and Wire Company, because of the fact that the corporation has developed a number of high grade specialties from wire which have become as well known as its celebrated fencing. It also announces that it has established an office in the Union Arcade in Pittsburg, where L. C. Sattley, the general manager of he company, will be located. The Page Company is one of the solid industries of our neighboring town, having been in continuous operation since it began business at its present location at the lower end of Monessen.

UNCLE OF JOHN K. TENER DEAD

John K. Tener, aged 90 years, an uncle of former Governor Tener, died Sunday night at his home on West Hutchinson avenue, Swissvale, from infirmities of age. He was born near Dungannan, County Tyrone, Ireland, the son of John Kinley Tener and Marie Evans Tener. He came to this country in his youth, and attended Bethany College. He graduated in 1849 and returned to Ireland, where he engaged in agricultural pursuits and operated two flour mills and a lumber plant. For a number of years he was manager of the estate of Lord Peebles, near Dungannan, Ireland. Mr. Tener organized the first church of the Christian denomination in Ireland. In 1856 he married Sarah B. Dunn, of Londonderry, Ireland. He is survived by four sons, one daughter, seventeen grandchildren and three greatgrandchildren.

The Fine Art of Smiling.

Why do we not always smile when we meet a fellow being? That is the true recognition which ought to pass from soul to soul. Little children do this involuntarily. The honest-hearted peasant does it. It is the magical sunlight all through that simple land, the perpetual greeting on the right hand or the left between strangers as they pass each other, never without a smile. This, then, is the "fine art of smiling"—like all fine art, true art, perfection of art, the simplest following of nature.

Semitic Languages.

Hebrew and Chaldee are sister dialects of a great family of languages to which the name of Semitic has usually been given from the real or supposed descent of the people speaking them from the patriarch Shem. Shem was the eldest son of Noah, born (Genesis 5:32) when his father had attained the age of 500 years. He was ninety-eight years old, married and childless at the time of the deluge. He died at the age of six hundred years.

Measures Speed of Clouds.

The comb nephonscope is a device for measuring the speed of clouds. It consists of an upright brass rod about nine feet long, bearing at its upper end a crosspiece to which a number of equidistant vertical spikes are attached. The observer turns the crosspiece until the cloud appears to travel along the line of spikes and notes the time it takes to pass from spike to spike. This forms a basis from which he reckons the speed.

Rattlers and Their Fangs.

There are four principal kinds of rattlers: Black diamond, mountain, prairie, and Texas. As is commonly known, every kind of rattler is poisonous. At the age of two months the first set of fangs appear. If these are removed, two more sets come, nine days apart. If the third set is removed the rattler is said to be "fixed," and no more fangs appear, consequently the snake is not dangerous.

Making a House a Home.

In planning a home it is essential to building satisfaction that the prospective house owner decides whether he wants to dwell in his own or some other person's home; that he decide just the sort of home he wishes to erect and follow those plans, also that he build his house on honest lines that conform to the principles of good architecture.

That Discouraged Him.

An exchange asks: "What has become of the old-fashioned doctor who used to write, 'Take a heaping dimeful of this powder three times a day?" We fancy, brother, he was knocked out by the old Irishman who, not having a dime handy, loaded up a nickel twice and nearly croaked.—Boston Transcript.

Grant's Grandson To Fight in Russian Army

A strain of American patriotism deeply implanted in him, Prince Michel Cantacuzene, a grandson of President Grant, is now one of the youngest officers in the Russian Army, in which his father is a general. The young Prince is visiting in America with his sisters at present, having brought them across the Atlantic from Russia to remain through the winter if not until the internal affairs of his country have been adjusted. This descendant of the great general of the Civil War is familiar with the history of the American rebellion and it has been an inspiration to both him and his father, who is now one of the foremost officers in the revolutionary army. The young man has military ambitions, and if the war continues may be expected to be heard from. He has had the advantages of military training and looked upon as a good soldier.

TWO TOWNS TO HOLD DEMONSTRATION

Belle ernon and Fayette City will hold a "Liberty Loan" demonstration Tuesday evening. As outlined the program includes a parade at Fayette Cty and later in the evening one at Belle Vernon.

In Belle Vernon a public meeting will be held, at which time Hon. Wooda N. Carr, and other able speakers from Uniontown, will be present to address the assembly.

The Belle Vernon people will go to Fayette City by automobile, leaving at 5:30 p. m. From 6:00 to 7:30 a demonstration will be held in Fayette City, at which time the automobiles and their passengers will leave for Belle Vernon, where a parade will take place, after which an open air meeting will be held at the P. & L. E. railroad station. In case of bad weather a hall will be provided for the meeting

Both towns of Belle Vernon and Fayette City are preparing to take their share of Liberty Loan bonds, and it is confidently expected that the quota assigned to them will be met, if not oversubscribed.

SHORTAGE OF SUGAR IS BECOMING ACUTE

A shortage of sugar is going to affect the use of that article in confectionery and soft drinks. The government is going to restrict all sales, be compelled to go on "short rations" as a result of present conditions. The Christmas candy business will be hard hit by the order about to be issued by the government.

While the step announced was taken with the hope that a complete shortage on candy making will not become necessary, this will be inevitable if the incoming beet sugar crop does not solve the shortage.

The administration's order will be put into effect immediately through state food controllers and local committees as well as refiners.

Soft drinks are classed by Mr. Hoover with candy as a luxury. Bakery cake is not but the frosting on it will have to be eliminated in the future.

Forty-five per cent of the sugar used in this country goes into luxuries, the food administrator estimated.

Appeals for economy in sugar having failed to relieve the shortage the order was decided upon by Mr. Hoover

The food administrator is preparing a series of sugar conservation appeals to the public. The housewife faces a short period of sugar famine in which it may be impossible for many to obtain any sugar. Retail sugar prices are slowly mounting, being held in check only by Hoover's recent indictment of retailers as one of the principal factors in high prices.

In some of the adjoining communities the shortage of sugar is already being keenly felt, domestic consumers being confined to purchase in 50 cent lots.

Adelin Barbouse, aged 54 years, nine months and 29 days, died at his home 725 Lincoln avenue Sunday, morning at 3 o'clock. He had been a resident of Charleroi since the founding of the town. He was an employe of the Pittsburg Plate Glass works. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Euppimie and four children, Arthur, Arnold, Aledia and Mrs. Wm. Bobrik. Also three brothers, Jules, John and Alfred and three sisters, Mrs. W. Delfosse, Mrs. Joseph Albert and Mrs. Louis Latour all of Charleroi. Funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Requiem High mass at St. Jerome's Catholic church, interment in Charleroi cemetery.

MAKE AUTO TRIP FROM LOS ANGELES

Mrs. Clara E. Thompson and daughter Marjorie arrived in Charleroi Sunday evening, after making a trip across the continent in an automobile. Mrs. Thompson and daughter left Los Angeles on the first day of October and after spending a delightful three weeks' on the way, visiting many points of interest enroute, arrived in Charleroi on the 21st day from the Pacific coast. The trip was made in Miss Marjorie's Studebaker landeau six, and while three tires were worn out enroute, they had no trouble otherwise. The car was in charge of a chauffeur. Mrs. Thompson was a former resident of Charleroi, leaving here about eight years ago, but with her daughter has come back to make her home in Charleroi. She owns the Thompson block on McKean avenue as well as other property in town. For the present they are stopping at the Hotel Charleroi.

MONESSEN BOY IS AGAIN CAPTURED

Stanley Slavinski, the Monessen boy who escaped from the juvenile detention room at Washington was arrested at his former home in Monessen a few days ago. The police were notified of his presence in town and went to the home. The boy had evidently seen the police coming and had locked himself in the bathroom, with a view of escaping through the window. However, he was unsuccessful, the police capturing him and taking him to Greensburg, where he was locked up in the lower tier of cells of the jail.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Steinbaugh and family have returned home after spending the week end in Cumberland, Md., with relatives.

FIRE AND FIGHT CALL OUT POLICE

The Charleroi police and firemen had rather an exciting time about noon Sunday. An alarm of fire came in from 405 Shady avenue, and while the firemen responded promptly, it was found that some minor accident to the fire truck prevented it from being taken to the scene. However the chemical wagon was utilized, the borough team getting it to the place of action, while the police patrol was used by the firemen. The fire was found in the cellar of a house on Shady avenue, which, while making a great deal of smoke, did no material damage.

While the police were at the fire they received a call to Tenth street, where a free fight was reported to be in progress. On their arrival there they found two foreigners indulging in the pastime of a fight, one of the contestants having already almost put his opponent out with a beer bottle, having hit him over the head with it. The assailant was making his "get-away" when the police arrived, but they captured him and placed him in the lockup. The man who had been assaulted was also brought to the lockup and a physician summoned to put a couple of stitches in the wound which he had received. Both men were kept in the lockup over night.

NINTH CORPS FLAG GIVEN TO STATE

John G. Darke, Jr., of Monessen, chief engineer of the Pittsburg Steel plant has presented to the state of Pennsylvania the headquarters flag of the Ninth Army Corps, which he had in his possession. Mr. Parke's father was a General in the civil war and was in command of a Brigade of the Ninth Corps at the siege of Vicksburg. The One Hundredth Pennsylvania (Roundhead) regiment was a part of the Ninth Corps and served at Vicksburg, as well as in many other important engagements in the south and west. The flag will be placed with the great collection of battle emblems now in possession of the state, and is regarded as a most valuable addition to the collection. The state will also make an effort to secure the battle flags of the Pennsylvania regiments now at Camp Hancock, as well as at other cantonments as soon as the war is over.

LAUNCHING LOCK GATES AT NO. FOUR

The steamer Slackwater, Capt. James Hays, arrived at the government boatyard, Lock Four, Sunday evening from Lock No. 2, and today is assisting in the launching of two new wooden lock gates, which will be placed in position at No. 2 just as soon as they can be taken to that place.

Work of filling the cribbing in the break at dam No. 4 is progressing nicely, an additional boat load of stone having been delivered by the steamer Swan this forenoon. The cribbing is now safely anchored, but government authorities wish to have it filled to pool level with stone before cold weather sets in, which will make any further work on this improvement impossible until next spring.

Next Saturday the locals will play at home and it is possible that their opponents will be the Carnegie Tech Reserves. The East Liberty Academy had been scheduled originally for this game, but the burning of the academy building, as well as the death of the President of the institution caused the team to disband and it became necessary for the local management to book another team. If the Tech Reserves cannot be secured, some other strong attraction will be carded for that date.

NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. MILFORD T. CUMMINGS, 322 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.

CAN WE BEAR THE BURDEN?

The sale of such vast amounts of government bonds naturally has given rise to questions as to where all the money to buy these bonds is coming from, and can the country bear the burden that the government is asking it to assume. Large government bond issues are unusual in this country. For the most part the federal government has paid its way from taxes, and these have been so modest as to give the people little concern. However, the obligation of the war has radically changed the financial situation of the government. The country must now assume a financial burden of such enormous proportions as to be almost beyond comprehension.

Are the resources of the country sufficient to stand the strain? Before the war Great Britain, with total resources of about $86,400,000,000, a little over one-third our resources, had a national debt of approximately $3,500,000,000. Since then her debt has increased to $17,336,000,000. If our debt bore a like proportion to our resources, we would now owe $45,000,000,000. What Great Britain is doing we can do. The people of Great Britain are no more patriotic than the people of the United States.

In spite of their carelessness, the savings of the people of the United States are enormous, and under the stimulus of war necessities their earnings will be increased sufficiently to take care of a large part of the war burden.

Bear this in mind and keep it before you every day until the war ends: that there is no price too great to pay for freedom. Every decent instinct that we have, loyalty, sympathy, the desire to prosper, and the desire to live well and happily, should prompt us to share the country's financial burden to the utmost of our ability.

The government now asks us to help by buying Liberty Bonds, and the people of the United States are going to respond to that request with the finest show of patriotism that the world has ever seen.

JIM DALE

By Ellis Parker Butler of the Vigilantes

Young Jimmy Dale, across our street,
Is just a gawky lad;
He grew so fast, the doctors said,
His heart was mighty bad;

They wouldn't let him do much work
Or any hearty play;
But, just the same, they drafted Jim,
And Jim has gone away.

Jim was a sort of great, big kid,
And fooling all the while,
So, when they ordered him to camp,
He went there with a smile.

Jim Dale is in the army now,
Lank legs, bum heart and all,
To fight like other drafted men
That got the country's call.

God, yes! Jim's heart may drop him dead
Or he may live to be
Shot all to pieces "over there"—
What odds to you or me?

By thunder! It's these odds to you!—
If kids like Jim can go,
With smiles, to fight our wars for us
We can put up the dough.

If we can buy a bond or two
And don't, while Jim, poor cuss,
Goes smiling off to death or wounds—
Then hell's too good for us!

LIBERTY LOAN SUNDAY.

Sunday, Oct. 21, has been officially designated as Liberty Loan Sunday throughout the United States. Committees will arrange with clergymen of all denominations to preach Liberty Loan sermons on that date.

FARM BUREAU AGENTS CO-OPERATE.

Many Chairmen of County Liberty Loan Committees are finding their efforts to reach the farming community very materially helped through the co-operation of Farm Bureau Agents in the counties. It is urged that whenever such agents are assigned, the County Liberty Loan Committee get immediately in touch with these agents for the purpose of helping in the agricultural districts.

Odd Names in New York.

For odd names New York takes the prize. Almost every calling is represented among the names of New Yorkers, besides every title, physical, mental or moral quality and every beast and bird familiar to man. Here are some New York names: Outlaw, Hogg, Gosh, Dorn, Jolly, Nutty, Looney, Kidder, Tout, Hurt, Fake, Grunt, Darnall, Fun, Laffers, Krazsy, Guyer, Bunk, Tough, Pain, Crook, Gee, Damn, Wit, Mutt, Batty, Stringer, Fight, Brawl.

Argentina Gum in Demand.

Among the Argentine industries which have benefited because of the suspended importation resulting from the European war, that of pitch gum is found to be of importance. The pitch gum of Argentina is sold under the name of Arabic gum and is used in the manufacture of candies. This product is now being used extensively instead of the imported article and efforts are being made to exploit its cultivation and production.

Reason for Self-Confidence.

Self-confidence is really based primarily upon one's consciousness of his own powers or of his deficiencies. A clear understanding of this fact will help to simplify the problem. It is perfectly clear, for instance, that the man who is poorly educated, who has neglected his opportunities, who is undisciplined, who lacks self-restraint, who is truly inferior in practically all directions, and who is at the same time conscious of his deficiencies, cannot expect to enjoy any degree of self-confidence.—Physical Culture.

Business Came First.

Some time ago two Chinese generals had planned a battle in the Chengtu plain, writes Owen Williams in the Christian Herald. It was within a few days of the rice harvest. The people petitioned the generals to call off their battle until the rice was harvested, and they did so. Then they went on with the fighting. But the days of such common sense are passing. Militarism is coming to demand more respect than that.

First Women Voters.

The first experiment in woman suffrage was in New Jersey, which organized as an independent state two days before the Declaration of Independence, with a constitution that allowed universal suffrage, male and female, without regard to color. This constitution was not changed until 1844, when suffrage was restricted to males on the alleged ground that women, as a class, did not care for it or exercise it.

The Cleanly Eel.

Fresh water eels are very clean feeders; they are sometimes seen cropping the leaves of watercresses and other aquatic plants as they float about in the water; but they are immense devourers of spawn of all kinds of fish. There are certain well-known spawning grounds in the Norfolk Broads where the roach and bream collect in vast numbers to spawn in the spring. To those grounds the eels follow in hundreds.

Very Important.

They say that everything one learns in youth helps one in maturity, and, while you wouldn't think at first blush that it would do a college girl so very much good to learn to high-jump 5 feet 2 inches on sober second thought we suppose it gives her a distinct advantage over her less highly trained sisters when the mice come around in after life.—Ohio State Journal.

Burning Coal Ashes.

This is a chemist's formula for burning coal ashes: One pound common salt, two ounces oxalic acid, one gallon water. Mix and moisten with it a mixture containing one part coal and three parts ashes, and a better fuel cannot be burned. This mixture will, upon being placed upon a burning fire, fuse into a cokelike mass and deposit but little residue.

Courage.

Tenacity of will, or willfulness, lies at the root of all courage, but courage can rise into true manliness only when the will is surrendered, and the more absolute the surrender of the will the more perfect will be the temper of our courage and the strength of our manliness.—Exchange.

Nine Safe Rules.

Drink less, breathe more; eat less, chew more; ride less, walk more; clothe less, bathe more; worry less, sleep more; talk less, think more; waste less, give more; scold less, read more; preach less, practice more.

The World Do Move.

An old fashioned Lawrence man who has always worn detached cuffs was congratulated the other day by a young sport who thought the old man had started a new fashion.—Kansas City Star.

Deer's "Velvet" Horns.

A deer's new horns are called "velvet" because they grow inside of a tough skin which is coarse and brown, like plush. For a long time he will not thrash his horns in the brush.

She Paved the Way.

"How did pa act when you asked him for my hand?" "Very gentle and courteous. It took me completely by surprise." "I told him you used to be a pugilist."

Much Troubled.

Mrs. A—"Are you troubled much in your neighborhood with borrowing?" Mrs. B—"Yes, a good deal. My neighbors never seem to have anything I want."

Casey—Finnegan got his loife insured last June an' he's dead so quick.
Cassidy—Shure he must hov had a pull wid de insurance company.

His Curiosity Aroused.

Carleton is much interested in animals. After visiting the circus he sat pondering and then said, "Say, do elephants give milk or lay eggs?"

Optimistic Thought.

They who protected the weakness of our infancy are entitled to our protection in their old age.

Writers of "Home, Sweet Home."

The words of the popular song, "Home, Sweet Home," were written by John Howard Payne, an American roving actor, who was born in New York 1791, and died in Africa in 1852, and never had much of a home anywhere. The music was written by Sir Henry Bishop, an English composer, born in 1786 and died in 1855, who incorporated the song in an opera entitled "Clari." The song was popular in England before it was ever heard in the United States.

Texas Once Was Larger.

Before its annexation to the United States, in 1845, Texas was an independent republic with a much larger area than the present state, though it is still the largest state in the Union. Its area as a republic was 376,163 square miles. In 1850 the state ceded to the United States all territory beyond its present limits of 274,356 square miles, in consideration of $10,000,000 in bonds, with the proceeds of which Texas paid off her state debt.

It Was Too Big.

At Mount Pleasant, Tex., a colored man came into the public telephone office and insisted that some one should talk for him. Upon being told that he would have to do his own talking he approached the telephone, took down the receiver and, after turning it over two or three times and examining it carefully, said: "Boss, Ah don't believe Ah kin get dat dah t'ing in mah mouf."

Music Hall Charms.

Fatigue and tired nerves often account for restlessness; in such conditions there is nothing better than soft music to quiet the nerves and put one in harmony again. It is more than a saying that "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast." It is true of that small primitive being, your child, who needs all that you can give him.—New York Evening Post.

"Strenua Inertia."

Horace speaks of this state of mind which we call nervousness and which we consider peculiar to ourselves, and describes it by felicitous image as "strenua inertia"—strenuous inertia—agitation, vain and ineffective, always wanting something new, not really knowing what, desiring most ardently yet speedily tiring of a desire gratified.—Ferrero.

Queer Mixup in Names.

People with queer names often get associated in a way which furnishes the editorial paragraphers with material. Such a mixing up of names with one real change of name was that of [illegible] the R. [illegible] be [illegible] and cleaned before [illegible] Comb., with Miss Anna Hugg as attendant.

Rapid-Fire Forgery.

Forgery while you wait was the trade of an eighteen-year-old lad recently charged at Guildford, England. He claimed that he could sit down and make a treasury note in half an hour. The forged notes, though somewhat crudely executed, might deceive in a bad light, being the exact size and color of the genuine ones.

By-Laws.

The original meaning was "town laws." "By" is an old Norse word meaning "town." It appears in the names of such towns as Derby and Whitby in the part of England which was overrun by the Danes in the ninth and tenth centuries.

Meatless Days Produce Longevity.

Plutarch recorded "that the ancient Britons were so temperate that they only began to grow old when one hundred and twenty years of age. . . . Their food consisted almost exclusively of acorns, berries and water."

An Oversight.

Harold was out walking with his mother when they passed a legless man. "Goodness, mamma, did God let that man out of heaven without his legs?" he asked.

Wanted to Be Sure.

Wifey—"Tom, dear, I wish you'd taste this milk and see if it's perfectly sweet. If it's the least bit sour I mustn't give a drop of it to poor little Fifi."
